Communication skills

Ability to adapt to multi social and cultural environments due to my work experience in coordinating cultural activities in academic institutions in Egypt and Lebanon throughout more than two decades. There are four types of communication skills that are continuously applied with students:

a. Communication with students through the students' representatives
b. Communication with the advisee students through the two semesters
c. Communication with the post-graduate students
d. Communication with the alumni (graduate students)

The shown poster, prepared and compiled by me, presents the network of alumni. Through my communication with them, I am always trying to trace their career paths whether in the labour market or in the post-graduate studies.

Organisational / managerial skills

a. The Executive Editor of Architecture and Planning Journal (APJ), hosted by the international platform Elsevier Digital-Commons
b. A member in the faculty committee of RIBA mapping. Since 2021 with the onslaught of COVID and climate change, RIBA have updated their criteria and attributes with new Education Themes and Values. I with other two colleagues have been entrusted to re-construct the course specifications (ILOs) of the entire architecture program, changing ILOs of courses, and feed the specifications of the program with the new considerations of RIBA new criteria.
   Considering this change, I had a task of building a new mapping between the program ILOs with the new RIBA Education themes and values.
c. Being selected as a member in the organising committee for the international conferences, such as 'The 1st International Conference - Rethinking Architecture, 2016', organised by the faculty in partnership with RIBA, and 'The 1st International Conference - Urban Health and Wellbeing, 2018', organised by the faculty in partnership with the International Science Council (ISC) and the International Society for Urban Health (ISUH).
d. Supervising the special issues of APJ as the conferences' proceedings - (Supervision on Publications)
e. Being selected as a session chair in the ASCAAD 2022 - Architecture in the Age of Metaverse, Oct. 2022.
f. Since 2018, Beirut Arab University was selected by the International Association of Universities (IAU) to tackle the Ninth Sustainable Development Goal (SDG9). Since then, I was entrusted to be an active member in the organizational committee of SDGs and SDG9 in BAU, attended many meetings, cooperating with our Satellite University (Assam Don Bosco - Indian University), and contributing to tasks and mappings.
g. Preparing and writing the design project briefs in detail.
h. Contributing to select the annual faculty main theme.
i. Reviewing the research proposals, submitted by the post-graduate applicants and checking their validity.

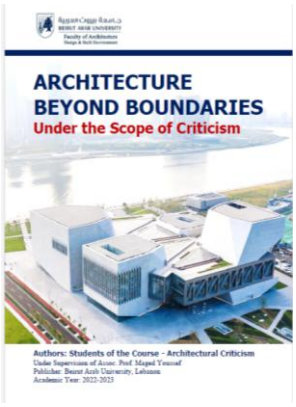
Job-related skills

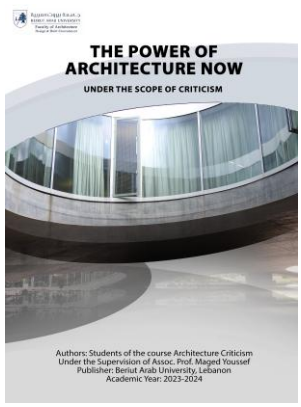
a. Good command of quality control processes. Since 2014, I am responsible for quality audit for the courses of the 3rd level.
b. One of the extra-curricular activities in the faculty is organising summer schools outside Lebanon. In 2015, I supervised a group of 22 students and spent two weeks with them in Cardiff, UK, to participate in the summer school, entitled: 'Low Carbon Architecture Summer Programme'. In 2017, I supervised a group of 30 students in England, for a scientific trip, visiting UCL and the international firms of Foster + Partners and Zaha Hadid Office. The shown posters present synopses of these trips.

Continue … Job-related skills

c. Throughout years of teaching the course 'Theory of Architecture III', I was keen to produce interesting material with interactive classes for my students. Every year, I ask my students to interact with different activities.

- In 2014/2015, students designed a 10-meter-long poster compiling the significant trends of contemporary architecture.
- In 2015/2016, students authored and compiled a book, entitled 'Starchitects'.
- In 2016/2017, students performed an educational-entertainment play on the stage of 'Omar Houri Auditorium'. It was entitled 'The Concealed Dimension'.
- In 2017/2018, with the inauguration of the Virtual Reality Laboratory in the faculty, students directed the animation movie 'Teleportation' with a special VR session for some of the contemporary projects.





d. In the course 'Architectural Criticism', I opened interesting topics with students for discussion. One of the students' outcomes was the book, entitled 'Architecture beyond Boundaries - Under the Scope of Criticism', produced 2022-2023. Another outcome was the book, entitled 'The Power of Architecture Now', produced 2023-2024. In these books, students succeeded to formulate critical statements on a number of selected prominent contemporary projects.
